REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the prior art discloses a method of regulating a generator having three stator windings, three generator terminals connected to the stator windings and the generator terminals being connected to a bridge converter for producing a DC current. However, the prior art fails to show, in combination with the invention, measuring a current of the generator with a current detector to obtain a measured value and controlling the switch element of the bridge converter according to the measured current value and temporarily connecting at least one of the stator windings to a charge source, independently of natural turn-on or ignition times of the switch elements, in order to supply the stator windings with an additional charging current in addition to any induced current present in the stator windings during an otherwise currentless time interval so that the generator is supplied with additional magnetizing current.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
